A WORD TO THE WISE

All hail Tobacco! The choicest gift ever bestowed by an all-wise and beneficent Creator upon poor suffering humanity. Attacked upon every side by the prejudiced—the penurious—the ignorant—and of course the unfatigued as the poor victim of a perfectly useless—and expensive habit. The user of the fragrant weed calmly pursues the even tenor of his way; secure in the knowledge that his foible brings him neither imputation nor dishonor—but content and happiness only. NEW DRAMA
IN VERY REAL LIFE DEPICTEDWIFE IN NAME ONLY, THE MYSTER, THE MINE AND THE UNCLE DEATH

Special to The Daily Leader.
Produced by the Guthrie Daily Leader, a new drama in very real life, bound in a good grade of ray and hand-tooled, would sell on trains at twobits, bring 40c in department stores and $1.50 a copy at a regular book store. The story:

Mrs. Josephine Fish Uncle, wife of a name only.
Wishes to Uncle, her husband.
Leander J. Fish, her dead husband.
Joe Fish, her stepson.
Mary Willis, the mysterious woman with the papers.

J. W. Swartz, an Oklahoma lawyer.
Scene 1. Washington, D. C., her wedding day, time, 1897; scene 2, her second marriage, time 1911; scene 3, her home in Maryland, visions of present; scene 4, ten months later, the Cry of Justice!

Synopsis: See federal court dockets for Wednesday.

Mary Josephine Fish and Leander Fish were married and lived happily for a time in Washington, D. C., but after the storm of life began, Leander is alleged to have deserted his home and removed to Oklahoma, settling at Miami, he being a Quaker and his profession being there. He took his son, Joe, with him, and Joe's mother, Mary Willis, lived nearby, at Neesho, Mo. In the course of time a sort of reconciliation was reached with the second wife left out and Leander is charged with having notified her at Washington that she had been divorced. Believing this statement, Mrs. Fish married William B. Fisher, and they moved to Joplin, Geo. Fisher, Neesho, where they lived for some time.

But let's turn to the life of Mary and her husband. In February, 1911, J. W. Swartz and Joe B. Fish, telling the former Mrs. Fish her husband was dead, sent her a letter and that he had never divorced her. She was still his legal wife and wasn't married to Fisher in all. Fish had left two children in federal court records, a small allowance, worth but little, and Joe ought to have it.

"Sign the papers," the lawyer is urged with exclaiming, "and I'll give you $10,000 and I'll send you both to the penitentiary—you're my man and wife."

And so, for the villain's sake as it were a phable to ease note—the second away in a $10,000 bond and a house and $500 worth of land of agricultural value.

The lawyer, the petition recites, then swore to keep secret the story upon the family name of Fisher.

Mary Willis became administratrix for Joe Fish.

But, here the other day, a cloud with a silver lining at last settled over Prince George county, Maryland. A local lawyer discovered the circumstances and interviewed Mary Josephine and Fisher.

Wednesday he sued in the federal court to set aside the deed they signed and get an accounting of income from the estate of Leander Fish.

Under the law, he sets forth the estate belongs, one-half to Mrs. Fisher and one-half to Joe B. Fish.

BRIGHTER CHILDREN

Children are probably brighter today than a generation ago—but are they stronger? That's a grave question. So many pinched faces, dulled eyes and languid feelings make us wonder if they will ever grow into robust, healthy men and women.

If your children catch colds easily, are tired when rising, lack healthy color, or find studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion for one month to enrich their blood and restore the body forces to healthy action.

Scott's Emulsion is used in public schools. It is not a "patent medicine," simply a highly concentrated oil-laced without alcohol or harmful drugs. It cannot harm, it improves blood; it benefits lungs and strengthens the system. Your druggist has it—ask him for it.

placed under other bridges and culverts, which are numerous in the vicinity.

Special Agent James Prindle of the Southern Pacific company said that the entire western division of the railroad, which extends from Oakland to Ogden, Utah, will be placed under a special guard.

Both Sheriff Vande and Prindle expressed the opinion that the dynamite was placed under the bridge by some person desirous of immediate progress of war munitions, which, it is said, are shipped over the main line in large quantities. Trains of explosives frequently are dispatched to the Hercules Powder Company, and every other day the Standard Oil company dispatches a train under armed guard to Chicago under six-weekly hour schedule.
